

Call for Papers

13th End-of-Year Conference of Swiss Economists Abroad

December 21, 2018 – ETH Zürich

Abstract submission deadline: October 7, 2018

All around the globe, economists from Switzerland are involved in interesting research activities. The Network of Swiss Economists Abroad and its annual end-of-year conference aim to facilitate the contact and academic exchange between those researchers.

Eligibility: We are accepting papers in all fields of economics from economists who are from Switzerland or have strong ties to Switzerland (e.g., BA or PhD from Switzerland) and are currently conducting academic research abroad. PhD students are especially welcome to submit as well and there will be special sessions to present preliminary research projects.

Submission: Please submit an abstract of your paper through the online submission form at <http://www.swisseeconomistsabroad.org/meetings/> before October 7, 2018.

Funding: We are very grateful to the Swiss National Bank for funding of the conference costs, including accommodation for the presenters and to the Swiss Society of Economics and Statistics for offering travel grants for PhD students presenting at the conference.

We are very much looking forward to your submissions. Thank you in advance for passing this information on to Swiss economists outside of Switzerland that you may know and who are not yet members of the network. The conference is open to all economists interested in recent research and in networking.

For any additional questions or to join Swiss Economists Abroad, please do not hesitate to contact us at endofyear@swisseeconomistsabroad.org.

Organizers:

Sandro Ambuehl (University of Toronto), Enrico Berkes (Ohio State University), Lorenz Küng (Northwestern).

Local Organizer:

Jan-Egbert Sturm (ETH Zürich)